LATERS 'ON WITH THE DANCE' WEEK'S RUN AT THE COLONIAL ON SUNDAY

Ma Murray, former Follies favorite and now a motion picture star, made a short excursion in the steerage of an ocean liner to make scenes for the first George Fitzmaurice production, "On With the Dance," which is coming to the Colonial theatre for seven days, commencing Sunday. The steamer was crowded with emigrants of all descriptions and they cleared a small space on the deck, where Miss Murray, clad in humble Russian peasant costume, did an eccentric dance. Her audience looked on in open-mouthed

Her Five Foot Highness At Dreamland Sunday

When an actress admits that she plays character roles, it is assumed at once that she is getting along towards middle age. Most of them play ingenue roles as long as their age can be concealed successfully. Edith Roberts, the diminutive Universal screen star who is to appear at the Dreamland Theatre Sunday in "Her Five-Foot Highness," will not accept any role that is not a character part, however, despite the fact she is only eighteen years old.

"When a young girl adopts the photodrama as a vocation, she always starts by playing 'sweetly pretty' parts," explains Miss Roberts. "She gradually develops until she becomes a leading woman or a star. When she feels herself getting old for these parts she takes up comedy or character acting. She generally is too old to learn the new type of work, however."

'OVERLAND RED' AT AMERICAN ON SUNDAY

When Harry Carey is about to cast a picture, the first thing he inquires is if Charles LeMayne is available. The matter of a leading woman is of secondary consideration; other roles can be filled easily; his horse "Dynamite," is al- ways to be depended upon; but if Charles Le Mayne is engaged on another production Carey would rather postpone his work and wait till he can get his dependable "heavy."

As usual, LeMayne will be seen in the role of the crooked sheriff in "Overland Red," Harry Carey's newest production, to be shown at the big events of the visit of this organization, the band of 40 mus- eans is still under the personal di- rection of William Walters and two free concerts will be given the day of performance. WAR on three fronts." is the way in which the present military situation in Poland was recently expressed with terseness by Prince Lubomirski, Minister from Poland to the United States. The peace treaty changed some of Poland's problems, but it did not wholly solve them. Poland is still at war.

The first of the three wars now menacing the young republic is the struggle with red Russia, which gradually but surely has been growing in intensity and widespread activity during the last few months. And the Bolsheviks assert that they have hardly begun as yet to exert the full strength of their pressure on the Poles.

With the Reds requiring ever-increasing watchfulness and military strength in the East, Poland has at the same time, in the West, to maintain her rights as well as she can in the passive struggle with Germany, who still has military control over the areas where Polish cities are to be taken in Silesia. Germany's propaganda is as powerful today against Poland, say the Poles, as it was against England in 1914.

Railroads and Factories Ruined

Of a non-military nature, but none the less a fight, is Poland's bitter struggle against famine within the confines of her own country. After the repeated flow of Russian and German armies across the land which now is Poland, the country is impoverished beyond description. There is nothing left in the way of rolling stock to make matters far worse. Transportation is sorely crippled. Maintaining the Polish armies along the tremendous fronts taxes the poor resources of the railroads. And the country is destitute of foodstuffs.

American experts who have examined conditions in that country thoroughly, as well as the Poles themselves, agree that until the next harvest season at least, Poland is dependent on the outside world for foodstuffs. And to add to the struggle of the new government, industry must be rebuilt from the ground up. Poland has been stripped of raw materials. Her factories have been crippled.

Whatever the Russians failed to do, the Germans did with thoroughness. By removing the key pieces of the machinery in many factories, for example, Teutonic ingenuity ruined them as effectively as if the buildings had been dynamited. The crippling of industry has created a gigantic problem in unemployment, and caring for the idle population is a tremendous burden on the struggling government.

Bulwark Against Reds

Acting as Europe's shield against Bolshevik invasion, Poland has a leading place in the battle line that is flung from the Baltic to the Adriatic. Miserably equipped and underfed, the stalwart warriors of the Polish eagle are fighting today along this immense front with the same spirit that characterized their ancestors in the long-past days when Poland was a mighty kingdom.

Always lovers of liberty, even through the dark period when they were the enforced subjects of Russia, Germany and Austria, the Poles are now fighting for the liberty, not only of themselves, but of their neighbors. "Not only have our armies thrown back the Bolsheviks over hundreds of miles of front, freeing the oppressed Polish and Jewish populations," the Polish Minister said not long ago in Washington, "but they have released from the bondage of soviet tyranny the Letts, Lithuanians, White Russians and Ruthenians, offering them independence and opportunities for development."

These accomplishments are largely the result of the genius of the Polish Chief of Staff, General Joseph Pilsudski, leader of the army. Before the war he began the organization of the fighting forces which, under the heavy Russian yoke, and during the war, was the leader of the Polish legions.

"By the spontaneous decision of the nation he has placed at the head of the Polish state, a manifestation of the confidence of thirty-five million people, and from those people he has organized an army not only of soldiers but of souls and spirits, who have carried on under him in spite of danger, misery and starvation that have beset them on all sides."

Wonderful Soldiers

The soldiers of Poland have indeed carried on, and are still carrying on, with the undiminished hopes born of a conviction that their cause is just and cannot fail. Underfed, ragged, and clothed, but inspired by the tradition of a free Poland, they display a degree of moral that to the outside is amazing.

Each day they may be seen marching cheerfully along through the streets of Warsaw, the capital of Poland, some wearing Russian uniforms, some Austrian, some German, some American khaki, some the regulation uniform of the army of Poland. But most of them wear a strange mixture of the uniforms of many nations. In the summer they make a practice of decorating themselves, their lodgings, their wagons and their trains with greens and flowers. But they all wear the Polish eagle, and as they march, they sing.

This optimism, however, is a tradition of the Polish troops. It is not to be found everywhere in Poland. For the Poles know how to be serious, and to look facts squarely in the face. An unadmitted outcome of the peace conference decision which provided for plebiscites to determine the nationality of border areas claimed jointly by Poland and her neighbors is the industrial paralysis and the high military and political tension which have developed among the people.

Germans Hold Silesia

The situation in Upper Silesia, for instance, has long amounted to a state of siege, with occasional bursts of active warfare, between the Poles and the Germans. Both Poland and Germany consider that the possession of the coal fields of Upper Silesia is vital to the maintenance of their respective countries.

Each nation claims the territory as its own. For a long time the Germans held the area, and foreigners who have visited there declare that it was obvious that the Germans were taking extreme measures to intimidate the Polish element, in order to line them up for a vote in favor of Germany, and to make it impossible for the loyal Poles to remain to cast their ballots.

An American who visited this disputed section late last summer brought back many stories of German terrorism, and took a quantity of photographs as evidence. One of these showed a Polish youth with great scars across his back—the result of a beating which he had received from the Germans for selling copies of a Polish newspaper to the mine-workers in Upper Silesia. This man reported a high degree of military development by the Germans and the installation of elaborate fortifications. American and British newspaper correspondents both reported in detail on the campaign of intimidation being conducted by the Germans. Attempts were being made constantly to infuriate the Polish troops into crossing the border to defend their own people, the Polish mine-workers and their families on the German side of the line.

The opinion has been advanced by many alien observers that the Germans were deliberately antagonizing the Poles with the hope that the Poles would lose their self-control and be impelled by resentment to take retaliatory measures which might incur the displeasure of the allied powers. To discredit Poland with her powerful backers would be a great achievement for Germany in her hope of confounding the new republic.

So to be prepared for sudden eventualities on the part of a sullen and mischief-making neighbor, as well as to keep her military fences in the West in as good condition as possible under the circumstances, the unsettled dispute over the coal fields demands that Poland maintain part of her army along this line.

Danzig Region

From farther north comes still another call upon the nation's sorely strained military resources. The change of boundaries in the neighborhood of Danzig, whereby Poland acquires certain territory which Germany was required to give up, places inside the confines of the former country a region which the central powers have overlooked as opportunity to Teutonia.

Some of the residents of German ancestry here have not been slow in recognizing the advantages coming with the change in nationality. These, together with the large number of genuine Poles who are there, are an influence for orderliness and the new nationalism. But Poland knows that in this district where there is a strong, even bitter, Germanic tendency among certain elements, she cannot trust these elements too far. The Poles have plenty of object lessons in the matter of preparedness.

Poland is "up to her ears in war" not because she likes to war. Nobody wants peace any more sincerely, even ardently, than do the Poles themselves. But in such a condition as Poland is placed today, the only way to a solid, lasting peace is the way that leads through war. All Poland looks forward eagerly to the day when her warriors can turn to the terrific tasks of peace. For Poland's peace problems are terrific, and to complete the beginning of the new republic will take the same dauntless courage as the Poles have shown in every war in which they have had any share.

RAPPING ON WOOD

Charles Lathrop Pack, President of the American Forestry Association

Print Paper Shortage Brings Out Some Startling Figures Showing How We Are Using Up Our Forests Without Replacing Them As We Should.

By THOMAS E. RUSSELL

RAPPING on wood has long been a method for warning of bad luck, but it does not occur to many of us just how easy it is to rap on wood. Look around you right now and note how many different pieces of wood are within easy reach. The paper you are reading right now is made out of it. The floors you walk on all day are made of wood. You are in constant contact with wood. The print paper shortage has called the attention of thousands, who never gave it any thought before, to the value of the forests, our greatest natural resource. If the pulpwood used in this country in 1918 were stacked on an acre of ground it would make a pile nearly four miles high. Could the cord wood be laid end on end it would extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast and about half way to Japan. The amount used in 1918 was five million, two hundred and fifty thousand and seven hundred and ninety-four cords of pulpwood. This is a jump of more than one hundred per cent in 20 years. The newspapers of the country have been hard pressed to meet the situation and conservation all along the line has been called for by the American Forestry Association which is campaigning for a national forest policy and better fire protection.

"The backbone of industry" is what Charles Lathrop Pack, who has just been re-elected president of the association, calls the forests. He calls on the schools of the country to talk of paper conservation and the study of the trees as a part of the campaign for thrift in this country. "Our forests are like a bank," Mr. Pack said at the annual meeting of the association. "we must deposit in them if we want to draw out." With our forests being cut down or destroyed by fire much faster than they are being replenished the end is in sight.

Situation Acute

The print paper situation has become so acute that it has been placed before Congress. Action on the resolution providing for the creation of a commission to deal with the Canadian Government for the relief of the print paper shortage and the recall of Canadian regulations detrimental to the United States publisher is asked by Senator Underwood, of Alabama. The sponsor provides that a commission of five be appointed by the President to confer with representatives of the Canadian Government and the provinces of Quebec, Ontario and New Brunswick, relative to the abandonment of Orders in Council issued as far back as 1910.

The Orders in Council, in short, provide that wood cut on crown lands shall not be exported unless cut into lumber, developed into wood pulp or manufactured into paper. The resolution introduced by Underwood outlines the situation in full.

"During the fight on the Underwood tariff bill I had inserted into that measure provisions which would provide for the importation of the print paper needed by the publishers of the United States at as low a price as possible," Underwood declared.

Would Force Paper Industry To Canada

"It was at that time that I became interested in the question of paper pulp wood imported from Canada. The rulings of the Canadian Government will eventually cause all paper manufacturers to move to Canada and to close their plants in the United States. When this is accomplished, by an embargo, the paper of this country could be cut off and we would have no way to defend ourselves to operate our newspaper plants."

The first action to prohibit the exportation of wood in its raw state was taken by the lieutenant-governor in Quebec in 1910. This prohibited the exportation of wood from crown lands. Underwood says this provision "deprived the citizens of the United States of wood to which they had all property rights."

The resolution was introduced following the action of the American Newspaper Publisher's Association asking for the "restoration of the property rights of American interests to the wood of their leased lands in Canada."

Another measure introduced by Senator Watson aims for the development of the cutting of wood for paper pulp in the United States.

National Forest Policy Needed

Importance of the forests to our economic life and the need of a national forest policy are shown when we consider the wood using industries of the country and the money involved. In Ohio, Indiana and Illinois a billion board feet of lumber was produced by each State in 1929, but twenty years later this production had dropped to about one-quarter of that amount. What this means in increased freight charges is easily seen. So alarming has become the situation that the newspapers have taken up the campaign of the American Forestry Association and told the wood using industries of the middle west they would have to move or quit in thirty years. A look at three of these big states gives an idea of the situation and what it means as a business proposition. Here are the figures:

Ohio—600,000 persons are employed in industries; $0.009 in wood-using industries; capital in all industries $1,675,000,000; in wood-using industries $150,000,000; annual products of all industries are worth $1,785,000,000 of wood-using industries $220,000,000.

Illinois—620,000 persons are employed in industries; 10,000 of them in wood-using industries; the capital invested in all industries $2,000,000,000, and in wood-using industries $400,000,000; the value of products of all industries is $2,250,000,000, and of wood-using industries $220,000,000.

Indiana—265,000 persons are employed in all industries; 70,000 in wood-using industries; capital in all industries $675,000,000; in wood-using industries $175,000,000; annual products of all industries are worth $739,000,000, of wood-using industries $140,000,000.

Wood Enters Into Nearly Every Line Of Manufacture

Just a glance at the wood-producing and wood-using industries of the United States will show their importance; lumber and timber products; planing-mill products, sash, doors, blinds and general millwork; window and door screens and weather strips; wooden packing boxes; cigar boxes; barrels and kegs; turned and carved wood; laths; wooden furniture, including rattan and willow; show cases; billiard tables and materials; looking glasses and picture frames; sewing-machine cases; baskets and rattan and willow ware; coffins and burial cases; rules; matches; pulp goods; wood carpet; charcoal; treated and preserved woods; carriages and wagons; airplanes; agricultural implements; dairymen's, poultrymen's and apiarists' supplies; wood for engraving, musical instruments and materials; paper and wood pulp; photographs and graphic phones; tobacco pipes; refrigerators and kitchen cabinets; ships and boats; toys and games; turpentine and rosin; washing-machines and clothes-wringers; wood distillates artificial limbs; professional and scientific instruments; handles; clocks; playground equipment; printing material; trunks; shuttles; spools, and bobbins; firearms; pulleys and conveyors; patterns and flasks; pumps and wood pipe; tanks and silos; bungs and faucets; brooms and carpet-sweepers; paving materials; plumbers' woodwork.

In round numbers 276,000 establishments are engaged in manufacturing, and of this vast number 52,000, or 19 per cent, are establishments depending solely or in part on the products of the forest for raw materials used in their varied lines of manufacture. In other words, nearly one-fifth of all the manufacturing establishments throughout the country use timber in one form or other, and they would be handicapped by decreased supplies and forced to cease working if no wood were obtainable.

Over One Million Wood Workers

By these 276,000 establishments work is given to 7,000,000 wage earners. Of this vast army of toilers, who keep the wheels of industry moving, 1,130,000, or 16 per cent, earn their wage in the 52,000 wood-using plants. To a man these wage earners should be interested in the proper use of our forests, for from the wood which they handle to make their livelihood.

The country's manufacturing establishments pay out annually in the aggregate 14 1/2 billion dollars for raw materials, and the part of the wood-using industries in that huge expenditure amounts to more than one billion dollars, or 7 per cent. The value of the products of the 52,000 establishments amounts to nearly 2 1/2 billion dollars a year, or 10 per cent, of the total value of all manufacturers. The value of the products of the wood-using industries is slightly more than doubled by the process of refinement at the hands of more than a million wage earners. The capital invested in the 52,000 plants, totalling 13 billion dollars, is 13 per cent, of the aggregate investment of 22 1/2 billion dollars in manufacturing.

One inhabitant of every 100 forming the 100 million population of the United States is a wage earner whose earnings depend upon the uninterrupted supply of raw material from the forest. In the perpetuation of our forests the public is vitally concerned. It means national safety as well as economic prosperity and the American Forestry Association welcomes suggestions as to the best ideas to be incorporated in a national forest policy. In one form or another wood whether it be fuel or furniture is the principal raw material that enters into the making of thousands of manufactures and the turning out of these varied products involves the labor of millions of persons, backed up by the capital investment of billions of dollars. Should the forest crop be shortened, the manufacturer would be deprived of his raw material, and labor, in turn, would lack employment. So whatever tends to maintain an abundant annual forest crop is for the benefit of the public, and whatever tends to diminish such a crop, whether it be poor utilization, carelessness, or fire, robs labor and the public. Let us save the forests!

A BAD BREAK

We sauntered down the quiet street. Our fancy busy elsewhere. When sudden came to stay our feet A startling shriek upon the air.

And from a mansion near there fled A damsel of uncommon grace. And after her a ruffian sped With incense on his evil face.

The fleeing maid he quickly caught. And dragged her, wildly struggling, back. Then to our heart in rushing tide Came indignation strong and warm. "Unhand her, villain!" loud we cried. "Or feel the weight of our good arm."

And then we heard an angry "Hey!" From one nearby at a machine. "Somebody chase that boob away. He's spoiled our finest movie scene."

U. S. Will Reply
On Coal Miners'
Abatement Plea

(By Associated Press)—Indianapolis, May 7.—Dan W. Simms of Lafayette, special United States district attorney is expected today to file the government's answer to the plea in abatement which was entered yesterday when a part of the 125 coal miners and operators indicted for conspiracy to violate the Lever law were arraigned in federal court here yesterday.

Although Judge A. B. Anderson indicated his willingness to make a ruling on the plea, Charles Evans Hughes of New York chief counsel for the United Mine Workers of America, insisted that the answer to the government be filed before further steps were taken.

The plea in abatement called attention to a part of the instructions given by Judge Anderson to the special grand jury which investigated the coal situation last winter. It attacked that portion of the instructions which quoted from a speech of a speech of a member of congress containing alleged statements of John L. Lewis president of the miners' union, miners and operators.

Mr. Simms, speaking for the government made a defense of the instructions, declaring that every rule governing the deliberations of a grand jury had been laid down by the court. He declared that he had personally informed the members of the grand jury of the erroneous statement of the members of congress concerning Mr. Lewis. All the Indiana operators indicted in the case were present at the arraignment, with the exception of C. Kostm of Terre Haute, who said to be ill. Operators from Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania were not present on account of the proceedings which they have started fighting removal to the jurisdiction of the Indiana court.

(By Associated Press)—Los Angeles, Cal., May 7.—Returning to the county jail late yesterday after pleading guilty to an indictment charging him with the murder of Nina Lee Delaney, one of five "wives" he is alleged to have killed, Walter Andrew Watson found in his cell a large bunch of red roses left, according to jail officials, by a woman who rode in a costly limousine, but who declined to give her name.

Watson is to be the subject today of a conference between District Attorney Wosilwine, other county officials and J. J. Moran, Marinduke, Watson's attorney. It was announced. The exact nature of the conference was not disclosed. Following the indictment by the county grand jury during the day of Frank H. Willis, to whom Watson made his plea of guilty, announced he would appoint attorneys today to investigate Watson's mental condition.

The court said sentence would be imposed Monday. Despite the decision of the court Marinduke declared his client had no intention of pleading insanity but was desirous of receiving a sentence of life imprisonment.

SO EASY! LIKE ROLLING OFF LOG

Sore, touchy corns stop hurt- ing, then life right out with fingers

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says the Cincinnati author- ity, because a few drops of free- zone applied directly on a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once and soon the corn loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A quarter ounce of freezone costs very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpen- sive and is said not to inflame or even irritate the surrounding tis- sue or skin. After you lift away the troublesome corn or callus the skin underneath is as pink, firm and healthy as the palm of your hand.

NEWSBOYS SEE CARNIVAL

Forty-eight Chronicle-Telegram newsboys had the time of their lives at the Greenwald carnival at the show grounds last evening. Headed by the carnival band they paraded to the grounds where they were given free admission to the various attractions, rode on the merry-go-round and whooped and yelled to their entire satisfaction. They also saw a wrestling bout between Grabach, a husky Cleveland athlete and wrestler con- nected with the show who meets all comers. The Cleveland Man won out, and a return match has been arranged for Saturday night. The boys gave the contestants all kind of advice as to how to win during the contest, and encouraged them to their best efforts.

MEXICAN PRESIDENT SPEEDILY DEPARTS FROM MEXICO CITY

The Mexican situation had caused the revolutionary agents here to predict that President Carranza would abandon the capital soon, either in flight from the country, or to some point from where he would attempt to carry on government business and direct military operations against the rebels. Their view of the situation found some support in official quarters where the greater part of the reports received had indicated a steady growth of the rebellion.

Rebel agents declared Carranza's manifesto in which he insisted he would not surrender the presidency was not inconsistent with their belief that he would abandon the capital pointing out that he might elude to the title of presidency from an office in Vera Cruz or from any convenient refuge.

A message to rebel headquarters here saying the president of the municipality of Mexico City was organizing a civilian guard for protection of the city "in the event of the evacuation," was regarded by the revolutionary agents as significant and had prepared them for the announcement that Carranza had quit the capital.

Customs Officials Reported Laredo, Texas, May 7.—Sixty employees of the Mexican customs and immigration service in Nuevo Laredo, opposite this city today declared themselves to be "Obregonistas" and notified military authorities they would attack the federal garrison unless the town was surrendered by 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The Mexican consul in Laredo declared the rebels are not of sufficient force to make a successful attack against the Nuevo Laredo garrison. It was reported but not confirmed that Carlos Ozuna, with Laredo shortly before noon said a force of former federal cavalry little alarm was being displayed skilled men have held sway. They are becoming expert factory hands and more and more are holding down jobs for which formerly only men were thought to be fitted. This cheerful young miss is an efficient lithograph pressman in Portland, Oregon. With her flat-heeled shoes, overalls and rolled up shirt sleeves she is all ready for a hard day's work. She runs a multifold color label press in a Portland factory and although she is only twenty-four years old she handles her big machine as expertly as did the man whose place she took. There may be another reason for her beaming smile, for she receives "equal pay for equal work."

Women are coming up gradually in the industrial world. They are slowly climbing out of the unskilled class and into the higher circle where only efficient force to make a successful attack against the Nuevo Laredo garrison. A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

CAN YOU CHANGE THIS LETTER INTO A PUPPET DOG?

If you will ask any engineer just how he keeps his engine up to the mark—what he does and when he does it—and then will go and do likewise with yourself, you'll be a fitter man or woman. For all of us are engineers, in sole charge and responsible for the engines assigned to us by God—our bodies. The engine's function is to generate heat and transform it into energy. That is precisely the function of the body. It generates heat that is transformed into energy. The coal which is put into an engine is burned—that is, it unites with the oxygen of the air and is changed to water, carbon-dioxide gas and ash. As a consequence of this, heat is given off and the result is energy. Food taken into the body engine unites with the oxygen, and heat and energy result. An engine, fire box needs a generous supply of air in order that it may burn readily and steadily. The body engine must likewise have plenty of fresh air in order that the food fuel may be consumed readily and steadily. Moreover, not every engine can burn every kind of coal. Thus, it is for each of us to find out what sort of an engine he has been put in charge of, and then adapt the food fuel he uses to it. But the most valuable lesson of all to learn from an engineer is that he never abuses his engine, and that it is always under his control.

His Significance of the Date Teacher. "I'm surprised at you, Sammy Wicks, that you cannot tell me when Christopher Columbus discovered America! What does the chapter heading of the week's lesson read?" "Columbus—1492." Teacher: "Well, isn't that plain enough? Did you never see it before?" Sammy: "Yes'm, yes'm, but I always thought it was his telephone number."

FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Farmer spied a nice, big roast potato in the ashes under the fire. Now he had heard fire would burn, and he was afraid to try to get it out, so he thought he would get Woolly Ball to try first and see if it would burn her and if it did not, he would walk boldly up and get the potato. So he said to her: "Say, Woolly, back up to the fire and see if your long, fat, woolly tail will burn like the leaves do." And Woolly, all unsuspecting of the nature of fire, backed up and let her long tail touch it. In a second it was in a blaze and, with a cry of pain she ran forward crying for her mother. The fire burnt and hurt so she could not see where she was going for the tears in her eyes, and the next thing she knew she found herself in the mill-pond at the foot of the hill. It is a good thing she could not see where she was going, for if she had she would never have run into the water, being deathly afraid of it; and if she had not, she would have been burned to death; for the fire was spreading from her tail to the rest of her body; but, of course, the water put out the fire as soon as it touched her.

ELYRIA, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1920.

CONGRESSIONAL SITUATION IN THE 14th DISTRICT are three candidates for the Republican nomination for in Lorain County. There are four counties in this district—Medina, Portage and Summit. Summit county is larger, probably twice as large as the other three counties together.

night, editor of the Beacon-Journal has been announced as a in this county are Mr. S. H. Williams, Mayor Asaph R.
 Mr. Lyle Woodruff of Oberlin, who have announced themselves as candidates.

the desire of many that Lorain County shall elect its representative. Many desire this because of county pride, and as men equally able and qualified for the position, certainly would vote for the man from their own county with whom they or contact and with whom they might be personally acquainted. believe that there never was a more important time for and really able men to represent the people in our Congress.

candidate from Summit County is an able and well-qualified in every respect. But in other respects either one of the local candidates is his equal if not his superior.

ever one may think of the respective candidates one thing that with a preponderance of population in Summit County the forces organized for the candidate from that city, there is no hope for any candidate outside of Summit County there is more than one such candidate. If there were only one candidate and he received all the votes cast outside of Summit county, the Summit County man would beat the man outside and while it is certain that a man who was running will inside of Summit County, it is also equally certain that the man will get votes outside of Summit County.

izing this fact, it can be plainly seen then, that to split up outside of Summit County into two or three parts, practically success of the Summit County candidate. The only hope of ining, therefore, is to have all other candidates eliminated.
 three men who were contenders for the honors in Lorain county recognize this, and if they represent practically the same political life and stand for the same principles, they should of their number and the other two withdraw in the interest of the people.

ut casting any reflections upon the other two candidates, we at the Mayor of Elyria unquestionably has the greatest vote-er of the three men. This is certainly true wherever he is e will have as near unanimous support in Elyria and immediately as any candidate could possibly have with any opposition. standpoint of strategy also, if the object is to have some one win from Lorain County, the other two candidates would draw on behalf of Mayor Jones.

ould be the purpose of every Republican to see that the ablest candidate is nominated at the polls to the end of an election in November.

not know the attitude that all of these four candidates will on certain matters but we have no doubt but that any one of a worthy of the support of the Republican voters on election

IN REFERENCE TO THE ELECTRICAL FRANCHISE days ago we published an editorial on the electric light franchise then we have received several communications in regard to al of these have called attention to the fact that if the city cause of high prices, surrender or change any contract with one it would be morally obligated to do it with others; that when company has a franchise with the city or a contract with the city are able to obtain raw material at less price than they had and they do not turn back their gains into the city treasury; and is no reason why the city should begin the practice of taking in the citizens which they collect, by adding it to their mouth-paying it to those with whom it has an agreement, when there obligation to do so.

understand that the Electric Company received its franchise and its rate by being a bidder in the open market, for the of furnishing electricity to the citizens of Elyria. It is an extraordinary matter then for the increase to be made. It is unfair and serious matter then for the increase to be made. It is unfair who might have entered into competition and who might awarded the contract upon the new prices which might now own matter to consider is the fact that the larger holding com-owns all of the stock in the Electric Company of Elyria owns electric service corporations. It has been able to make some very contracts so that it is paying a larger dividend upon its preferred stock, and its common stock is worth several times par.

not blame them from a business standpoint in endeavoring to protect their properties well paying propositions and have none in business ventures. But in business we have found that in order to be successful and straightforward we must take the bitter with the sweet.

to separate our own business into its component parts, there some of it which we would want to cut out because we are losing on it. But in the first place we can't cut it out and in the second place a little turn in circumstances may change the losing proposition into a gainful one. All of these are to be considered.

AN OPTIMISTIC MESSAGE
 speaker at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Wednesday e a message of optimism and common sense. His suggestion a the price of our boards goes up and the government bonds that it does not reflect favorably upon the intelligence of the
 as a bulls-eye but world is not going to the bow-wows. Sanity and sense are on the surface in a more pronounced form. The belief that one ch over night is beginning to produce more wrecks and derelicts harbor reaching vessels and the observers are noticing it.

Voice Of The People

the People

ing Milk

your editorialists regularly find them interesting constructive, and believe you be fair and liberal in discussions, therefore I assure you will agree with me in order to make your topic to the reading public to all concerned, the writer be well informed about subject I have in mind is
 in the Chronicle-
 of May third, entitled "Milk Situation." You the object of the distribution of the price paid without a correspondent to the consumer.

The production of milk is frequently expressed as "either a feast or a famine" in other words there is only a short period of the year that the supply and demand are equal. The situation might be summed up as follows: for three months the supply and demand are equal, six months the production exceeds the demand and three months that the distributors have to scour the territory to find sufficient milk to take care of their trade for which they have to pay a premium.

Frequently the milk costs them more than they receive for it.
 Now what about this surplus?
 Naturally you say make it into butter, but when you figure that one hundred pounds of milk (average quality) produces but four pounds of butter, or approximately three gallons of milk are required for one pound of butter, with milk at $1.20 per gallon, you can see at a glance that the surplus milk is a losing proposition and right at the present time the period of the greatest surplus starts. The surplus frequently amounting to forty per cent of the receipts, so that the necessity of a greater margin between the cost and selling price must surely be apparent to you.

You quote some prices that I do not feel qualified to discuss, as my experience in the milk business in Northern Ohio, only dates back over a period of twenty years. (A regular writer might call it a generation) and I do not recall the time you speak of when the dealer paid four cents a quart and sold for five cents a quart, except in cases as mentioned above when a dealer was short.

Until a short time ago the prevailing rule was that the distributor paid the producer one half of the retail price, when milk sold for six cents per quart the producer was paid twelve cents per gallon and in some cases the producer agreed to furnish a stated amount but where the dealer handled the surplus, the price in May and June was ten cents a gallon when the retail price was six cents per quart.

The price at the creameries at the time mentioned, ranged from 60c per hundred during the flush, to $1 per hundred during the winter which used to be the season of shortage. In terms of gallons that would run from six cents per gallon, to ten cents per gallon, so you can see that at the present prices the per cent of profit is not as great as it was when milk sold for less.

I also might mention that the price to the producer used to be based on the Elyria butter market, and in that case the surplus could be made into butter without much loss.

Basing figures on the period when milk sold for six cents per quart and comparing them with present prices, the situation is summed up as follows for the month of May:

Price to producer advanced 300
 per cent.
 Cost of labor advanced 280 per cent.
 Cost of cans advanced 340 per
 cent.
 Cost of bottles advanced 250 per
 cent.
 Cost of bottle caps advanced 300
 per cent.
 Cost of wagon cases advanced
 300 per cent.
 Cost of horse keep advanced 260
 per cent.
 Price of retail milk advanced 250 per cent.

These prices can be verified.
 Does this look unreasonable?
 Yours truly
 R. B. STROTHERS.

PROBE BY RAILMEN GIVEN WAGE BOARD SHOW DISCREPANCY

nearly one-half the price paid by the consumer, or nearly three times the total labor cost, while in 1917, the profit items amounted to approximately three-fifths of the total price and over five times the total labor cost.

$1200 Annual Family Loss Increases in the retail price of bituminous coal were shown at four times the increase in labor costs while the proportion of the proceeds of the industry received by the coal operator was shown as increased from 75 to 400 per cent.
 Profiteering did not stop with the armistice, the report declared, presenting figures to show that corporate profits in 1919 were 110 per cent over the pre-war average which means, the study added, that 1919 profits were more than double the average for the years 1912-1914.

An average of $1200 per family of five during the years 1916-1918 was declared to be probably a highly conservative estimate of the actual cost of corporate profiteering to the consumer.

Gives Four Demands
 Concluding his study, Mr. Lauck submitted the following general demands in the name of the railroad workers:

"1—Labor in general, and railroad labor in particular, must have wage increases proportionate to advances in living costs.

"2—In the present crisis, and for all time to come, producers and middlemen must be restrained from advancing prices in excess of increases in labor and material costs.

"3—Producers and middlemen must refrain from including income and excess profit taxes in their costs and passing them on to the consumer with an added profit.

"4—The principle of a living wage must be accepted and estab-meeting of Home Service secretaries which was held in Columbus yesterday. The Ohio secretaries are the first to band together into one large organization, and their conference is for the purpose of discussing the problems attendant on the finishing of the war time service to the men in the army, navy and marine corps.

The keynote of Red Cross service on Thursday was given in an address at the opening session by J. M. Telegen, manager of the Lake Division.

"Red Cross Service is ideal," he said, "because it is based on the ideals of mankind; it is human because its workers do not work for individual recognition; it is universal because thirty nations now have their national Red Cross societies; it is vigilant to cope with any disaster arising; it is unified in having chapters throughout the country."

The secretaries also heard talks by Louis Herbst, district vocational officer of Cincinnati; A. R. McCarthy, state agent of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance and Dr. Henry L. Stickney, U. S. Public Health Service, Cincinnati.

The members heard a very inspiring address by Edmund F. Arras, district governor of Kiwanis clubs of the state and O. Sam Comings, international secretary of Kiwanis, spoke on "The Ideals of Kiwanis."

One of the features of the entertainment was a jazz band, and another the Cleveland Kiwanis club quartet.

Mayor Jones, president of the Elyria Kiwanis club was called on and made a short but enthusiastic talk during the evening.

First get a little of that good mixed lawn seed and sow on bare spots, loosening up the soil with a rake if it is baked hard. Then a ball bearing Coldwell Lawn Mower which we will sell you for $12, will be next.

This machine is made in the largest mower plant in the world, has four cutters, easy adjustments, high wheels and is so light running that a child can operate it. A pair of good grass shears will cost 50c and be worth while in trimming around shrubs and walks. Soon a hose will be necessary if you really want a nice lawn. For years we have sold Goodrich Red 5-ply hose and have a new, fresh lot. 50 feet of half inch with connections on each end costs $8. A nozzle is 75c extra. Hose Reels, Lawn Sprinklers, and many other things are ready for your inspection. Come and look them over.

Oats were dull and about steady at yesterday's close. This condition, however, was short lived, as the market after opening unchanged to 5 3/4c higher on the range, showed an inclination to advance. July started unchanged to 1 3/4c higher on the range, showed an inclination to advance. July started unchanged to 1 3/4c higher with 92 3/4c to 93c and go-on touched 93 3/4c, a new high figure for the crop.

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, May 7.—Emma Goldman, radical leader deported to Russia with Alexander Berkman, others on the Soviet "ark," has found it difficult to acclimatize herself in the land of her birth and is homesick for the United States, according to a letter from her to Dr. Ben L. Reikman, her friend, made public today. The letter was dated Moscow, March 8.
"I miss America, I lived there years, you know," said Miss Goldman. "However, if I could get near from those dear to me behind it would not be so difficult."
Her lack of knowledge of the Russian language and unfamiliarity with "the new and strange situation," had kept her from becoming active in social work, she wrote.

On Saturday, May 8, 1920 Will Open To the Public

PASADENA PARK Finest Residential Allotment Ever Developed In Lorain Connty

If you will devote one-half hour of your time to a careful study of this sheet you will find the reason for this statement.

Improvements All Put In and Paid for by The Greater Elyria Bldg. Co.

Backed by men who had the foresight to see Elyria's future. They have spent up-to-date Five Hundred Thousand Dollars in this beautiful allotment. Have you the foresight to secure one or two lots?

EASY TERMS—ACT TODAY—CALL 2570 OR MAIN 177 FOR AUTO—THEN USE YOUR EYES!

GRADING

The first step necessary in the development of an allotment of this kind is the establishment of street grades which, with the assistance of the city engineer, we have done. To be followed by a large force of men and teams who set about to place all streets to the established grades. In doing this it was necessary to move more than thirty thousand yards of dirt. All this dirt has been moved onto the lots leaving every lot nicely graded and high enough that it will not be necessary for purchasers to haul additional dirt onto their lots for filling. The street grades will never be changed, thereby assuring you of a permanent improvement.

WATER

Installation of water mains in all streets has been completed. Curb connections are placed in all lots.

SIDEWALKS

We are installing along all frontages a guaranteed sidewalk. This work is now well underway and is being constructed according to specifications and under the supervision of the city engineer.

PAVEMENT

We will construct immediately a first quality Macadam Pavement with an Asphalt Tarvia Coating on the surface, forming an absolutely noiseless pavement which is very adaptable to residence districts in other parts of the country. In the construction of this improvement we have planned that there shall be curbing set, but that the lawn of the sidewalk parking shall extend down to the curbing of the pavement thereby keeping the entire allotment in harmony with the development of Pasadena Park.

SEWERS

This land has an excellent storm water drainage and sanitary sewers. All curb connections were constructed as this system was installed.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS AND GAS

In order to further beautify this property we have placed all poles to be used jointly by the Electric Light and Telephone Companies in extending their service wires through the rear of all lots.

SHADE TREES

During the month of May of this year we are going to plant about six hundred fine Norway Maple Trees along the streets. These trees will be the best that money can buy and we positively guarantee every tree to be perfect and grow.

For the man who can invest a few hundred dollars now, the advantages offered in Pasadena Park are unrivaled. He will have the same protection, the same surety of continuing and increasing values that are demanded by the wealthiest homeowners in the most costly developments elsewhere. Whoever you are, whatever your resources—if you love beauty—if you want an artistic home, Pasadena Park has a beautiful spot for you and your home.

Our office is on the property and we will have attentive salesmen at your service at all times. The beautiful office which we are building will be completed in time for the sale opening and for the convenience of those who find it more advantageous to call at the allotment in the evening, we will have the property well illuminated until ten o'clock each evening, making it possible for you to bring your family along to help select your lot.

We will also show this property by appointment. If you prefer you may call 2570 and your wishes will be given every possible attention.

Get out to the property on opening day as your delay in selecting a home site in this beautiful allotment will mean that you pay higher prices later on because values are sure to increase rapidly as the property is improved and the building of 100 homes of which 60 are now ready to occupy.

ITALY FACING UPRISING OF PEASANTS

Anarchists Gain Upper Hands as Two Are Killed and Thirty Injured in Conflicts — Crops Destroyed

French Dutchesse Scores U. S. Food In Her New Book

(By Associated Press) Paris, May 7.—American food, as served in restaurants in that country did not favorably impress the Duchesse de Clermont-Tonnerre who visited the United States last autumn and has written a book on her trip.

Americans do not consider eating seriously enough, she indicates, and try to "simplify the performance." The only American foods that appear to have made an appeal to the duchess were red bananas, California apples and oranges and "hams of Virginia."

"One must admit," she said in her book, "that food in America is not good. To a Frenchman the word 'meal' cannot be applied to the boiling down of a club sandwich in five or six bites while standing before a luncheon bar. The necessity of eating seems to have become for Americans a sort of monotonous and obligatory annoyance and they are bending all endeavors toward simplifying the performance."

The duchess says she "is unable to comprehend why an American should require less time for his whole luncheon than one of her countrymen needs to merely scan the wine list."

At the time of the change, Mr. Post said, "scores and scores" of cases had piled up in the immigration bureau, with the result that many aliens were being held in jail for months.

Dirt Flies in Norwalk Backyard Gold Mines

Norwalk, May 7.—Since Charles Kohlmeier this week dug up some rocks containing shining particles of gold at his home on the northern edge of the city, it has been lying in Norwalk backyards Norwalk has, in short, suffered an attack of gold fever.

Kohlmeier at first thought he had some "fool's gold" or some other valueless substance. When he took a sample of the quartz to a jeweler, however, it was pronounced gold. Frank Adelman, a Norwalk patrolman who spent several years placer mining in the Klondike, also says the substance is gold.

Whether enough gold will be found to make mining profitable, is a question. The theory is advanced that the metal was carried here by ice during the glacial epoch from some gold field in Canada. In the excavation where Kohlmeier made his discovery were found a number of boulders of Canadian origin.
